

LET'S END MODERN SLAVERY TOGETHER

An estimated 40.3 million people are living in contemporary forms of slavery today around the world. This extreme exploitation of people happens in every country, often hiding in plain sight.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE WAYS IN WHICH PEOPLE ARE EXPLOITED IN MODERN SLAVERY

Construction

Forced Marriage

Domestic Slavery

Tourism

Sex
Trafficking

Cocoa

Garments

Modern slavery is used to describe situations when a person is involuntarily exploited through mental or physical threats or abuse for someone else's benefit. They are controlled by an 'employer', dehumanized and treated as a commodity or bought and sold as 'property'. Restrictions are placed on the person's freedom of movement through threats, confiscation of legal documents or physical restraint.

We are all involved and, most importantly, we can all do something to stop it. By being part of an active social movement to end modern slavery we can use our voices to collectively demand change within society, business and governments towards a world in which modern slavery no longer thrives.

---

Take action today. Turn to other side. ↩

Nancy was trafficked to the UK into domestic servitude but has been told by the government that she has no right to remain and recover from her experiences.

Photo Credit: Cristopher Thomond / The Guardian

Support Nancy's case to remain in the UK so that she can recover.

1

Scan the QR code with your phone

2

Sign the petition

3

Share this leaflet with a friend or family member

www.freedomunited.org

@freedomunitedhq